Our Mission... We are a community of believers who come together in:

- † Worship to be transformed by the presence of Jesus Christ in and through God's gift of Word and Sacrament.
- † Christian Education to deepen our faith and strengthen us in faithful service, trusting in the creative activity of the Holy Spirit.
- † Friendship to celebrate our unity in Christ and sustain and nurture each other as we journey with Him in our day-to-day lives.
- † Stewardship to gratefully use the time, talents and possessions we have been given in furthering our mission in response to Jesus' call and the leading of the Holy Spirit.
- † Evangelism to share the Jesus story so that others may come to know God's reconciling grace and the peace, joy and hope that his divine grace gives.
- † Social Ministry to respond to the spiritual, mental and physical needs of our neighbors and advocate for the poor, hungry and vulnerable peoples of the world.

How Do You Want to Celebrate
Your Life?
A Lunch
Workshop with Pastor Althea

Save the Date from Pastor: February 22, 2026 – Following worship I will be hosting a workshop on planning your wishes for end of life and funeral services. This is certainly not the most fun topic. However, in my years of experience, it is extremely helpful for loved ones to have things written down and planned as much as possible. There is no pressure with any aspect of this. I will briefly go through the process of funeral preparation and go over items which are able to be chosen ahead of time. Participants will take a worksheet home and fill out information at their own leisure. Copies may be made of personal plans if desired for church files. Bring a potluck dish.

From the Archives: Building of the Church

This is the ninth and final in a series of articles featuring the 1954 build. The photos were graciously donated to Holy Trinity by the late, Jim Rittle.

Here's what's happening!

Update on Holy Trinity's Archives & Artifacts

Recently, a committee was formed through a collaboration of retired historian Jim Dibert, who worked with artifacts at Historical Schaefferstown, Inc.'s museums and archeological sites, and retired library Betz Miller in consultation with Pastor Althea, who has worked with the archives at Susquehanna University, and our Church Administrator Stephanie Kaylor.

A distinction was made between archives (i.e., documents, photographs, and media materials) that were generated by church groups and actives no longer active and those generated by currently active church groups and activities. The committee's first task is to update and maintain active collections of archives currently being generated, while assigning to the proper collection occasional donations belonging to inactive archives.

The secondary task of the committee is to inventory, record, if necessary, reorganize archival collections and artifacts (i.e., three dimensional items of historical significance to Holy Trinity, which are often large and heavy) so that their location is readily accessible.

The committee's third, but very important, task is to ensure that both the archives and artifacts are properly stored and preserved. It has been determined that storage of our archives needs to be expanded beyond the current space available. A plan is currently underway.

If you are interested in learning more or joining the committee, please contact any of the members for more information.

Exemplars of Faith

Trinity Tidings' December issue told the story of St. Nicolas whose life exemplified the act of freely giving to those with a need. January's issue highlights another exemplar of faith.

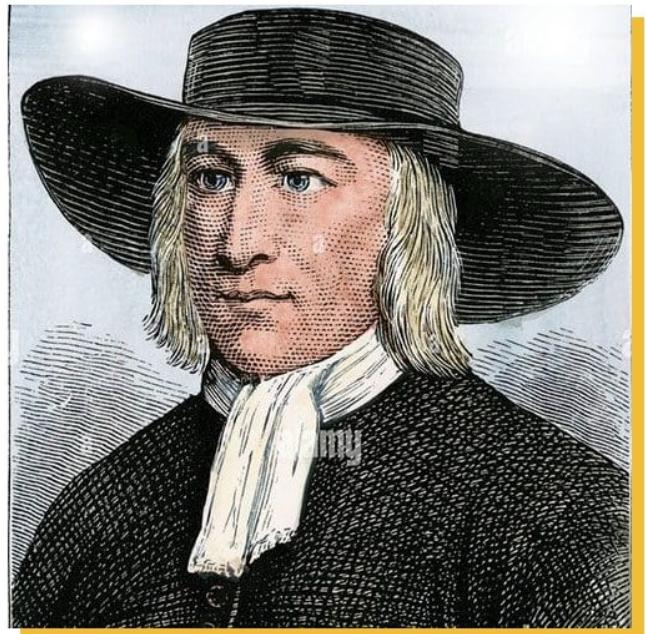

"Be still, then, acknowledge that I am God"
(Psalm 46:10)

George Fox (1621-1691) experienced a spiritual crisis in 1644 when he was 23 years old. He had been disillusioned by the condition of the Church of England and the Puritans in the Britain of his time. It seemed there was much insincerity, hypocrisy, futile formalism, and oppressive legalism wherever he looked. He wrote in his journal: "When all my hope in [the Churches] and all men had gone, so that I had nothing outward to help me, nor could I tell what to do. Then I heard a voice that said, "There is one, even Jesus Christ, that can speak to your condition, my heart did leap for joy."

From the Lutheran perspective, he had experienced a moment of grace which launched him on a life centered in Christ. He began preaching that it was possible to have a direct relationship with God who, if you allow him, will direct your life when you quietly listen a patiently wait for Christ to guide you. In the Christian tradition, this is known as contemplation.

As an open-air itinerate preacher, Fox's sermons were concerned with the application of the gospel in daily life. As his movement spread over all of Britain and his followers increased, he realizes that need to organize the. Instead of forming another church with doctrines and rituals, he formed a Society of Friends who would regularly meet locally for spiritual growth and a mutual support. At these meetings those who attended would sit quietly in silent prayer and/or meditation on a passage of scripture. Anyone at anytime who felt called would stand and witness to a blessing, guidance, or an awareness given to them from God, public prayers of petition, intercession, thanksgiving, and praise might also be raised.

Two convictions put the Friends at odds with the conventional church and civil authorities. They refused to recognize society's accepted differences of social status, gender, and race that fostered inequality, since God treats everyone the same without distinction. And, they refused to take up arms at times of war or rebellion, since everyone carried the image of God within themselves; to engage in violence toward anyone was in effect to engage in violence toward God himself. It was claimed that when confronted with the "crimes" in court they "quaked."

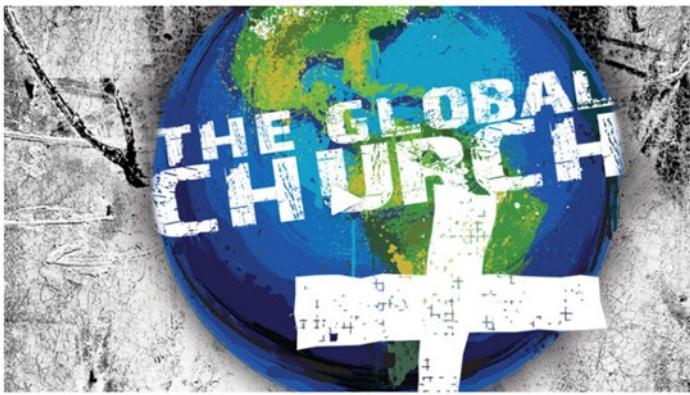

Thus arose the common name for their society: "Quakers."

The most famous was William Penn. To cancel a debt that Charles III owed to his deceased father, who had been an admiral in The Royal Navy, the King granted William a charter for his own colony in America as a refuge for Quakers. To form a government for his colony William developed a philosophy of civil authority that is consistent with Luther's understanding of the place and function of civil authority under God. Pennsylvania's colonial government is considered the most enlightened government of its historical time period.

In 1688, a group of Quakers in Pennsylvania drafted and published the first declaration for the abolition of human slavery. (Interestingly, among the Quakers was Daniel Pastorius, a lawyer and the agent of a company of Frankford Lutheran "Pietists" – whose devotions brought them close to Christ; and they knew William Penn personally – that finance the settlement, in 1683, of Germanton in Penn's colony. The declaration brought fruit in 1780 when Pennsylvania's assembly passed a law that the children of enslaved people were free and could not be enslaved. The effect was that the abolition of slavery was completed. In Pennsylvania decades before the outbreak of the Civil War.

The Lutheran Church commemorates the life of George Fox on January 13th.

The Care Class will discuss this article on January 18th after worship service in the Social Room. Everyone interested in the discussion is welcome. Coffee and a snack are available as well.

Every January, Holy Trinity highlights a ministry of the Global Church. This year's focus is on our ELCA missionaries.

Today, the Global Church has over 72 million Lutheran congruent in Europe and North America as well as Africa, Asia, and Latin America. Our church's expansion is due to the work of Lutheran missionaries.

Holy Trinity has experienced the capabilities of our missionaries through Pastor Kate Warn. She helped us through our transition between pastors as our interim pastor from the summers of 2012 and 2015, while she waited a new call as missionary in Africa. She previously served in South Sudan and Sierra Leone.

Again, we are called to help support our missionaries by being part of the ELCA missionaries' story as they serve in Jesus' name around the world. Missionaries accompany neighbors as teachers, pastors, doctors, and more. God calls us into the world – together. Your gift makes possible the life-changing ministry of sharing God's love.

Global Church special offering envelopes can be found in your yearly envelope box, at one of the Welcome Tables, and/or in the pews. You can also make a donation by marking your offering. Thank you for your generosity.

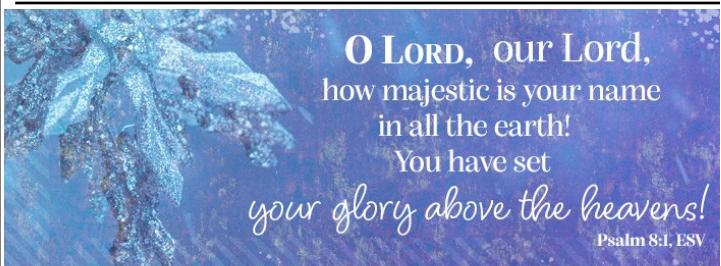

Mark your calendars for our annual meeting. This year we will hold it on January 25, directly following worship in the Social Room.

Cleaning & Household Products for Agape Family Shelter 2026

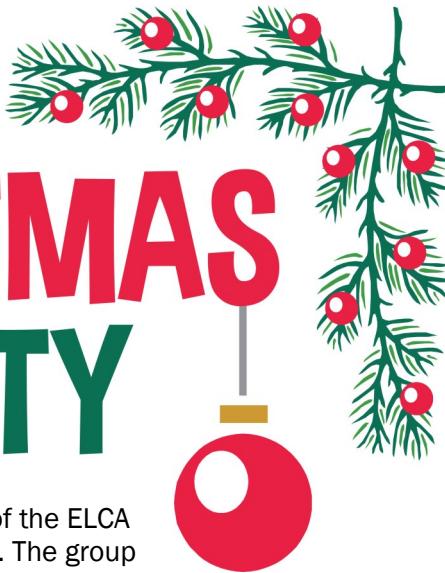

The Women of the ELCA's first service project for 2026 is collecting cleaning and household products for the Agape Family Shelter in the city of Lebanon from January 4, 2026 to February 18, 2026. Donations to be collected during this campaign include: paper towels, toilet tissue, Clorox wipes, 13 gallon tall kitchen trash bags, 33 gallon black drawstring trash bags, Lysol disinfectant spray (unscented, white can preferred), Pine Sol, Comet cleanser, dish detergents, sponges, scouring pads, paper plates, tea towels and HE laundry detergent. These "in kind" donations help to defray the shelter's maintenance costs thereby freeing up money for use to support programs to help their guests. The Agape Family Shelter provides a Christ-centered sanctuary for single women, pregnant women and mothers with children. Each woman who crosses their threshold is guided through an individualized plan for her future. From goal-setting and financial planning to parenting education and informal counseling, Agape Family Shelter empowers women with the life skills they need. We would like to invite the congregation to participate in this endeavor. Donations can be placed in the WELCA barrel located in The Giving Place through Sunday, February 15. All donations are greatly appreciated. Thank you.

January 28: Birding Pennsylvania's State Parks by Chris Kemmerer

Pennsylvania has one of the largest state park systems in the country. With 124 parks across 64 counties, the system includes geologic wonders, prominent moments in American history, old growth forests, tidal waterways, and Great Lakes access. This diversity is also represented in the flora and fauna. Join Chris Kemmerer, Education and Interpretation Section Chief for Pennsylvania State Parks, on a tour of the best birding spots in the PA's state park system. He'll highlight parks close-to-home near Lebanon, parks worthy of a daytrip and parks further afield that may require an overnight visit or two. You'll also learn a few other ways to engage with the PA State Parks beyond a birding adventure. Program starts at 7 p.m. in Luther's Place.
